

School's pride at Bootle youngsters who have been praised for their 'commitment to learning'

HARDWORKING children at Our Lady of Walsingham Primary and Infant School in Bootle have been praised for their achievements and commitment to learning during last term.

At a recent ceremony a total of 58 children, nearly a quarter of the school, were congratulated for achieving 100% attendance throughout last term.

Staff praised all the children who had not missed a single day of schooling and told them to keep up their hard work.

Headteacher Bernie Shiels said: "It is a great achievement and we are very proud of our students."
